About DRÄXLMAIER

The DRÄXLMAIER Group develops and manufactures complex wiring harness systems, exclusive interiors, and innovative solutions for the mobility of the future, including high-performance high-voltage battery systems, on an end-to-end and cross-system basis. The globally present company thereby covers the entire process chain: from the initial idea, through the development process, and up to precisely in-sequence delivery of the products to the assembly lines of automobile manufacturers. As a family business, DRÄXLMAIER also attaches particular importance to responsible and sustainable business practices for the benefit of people, the environment and society.

History

In 1958, Fritz and Lisa Dräxlmaier senior founded the automotive supplier "Lisa Dräxlmaier". The first order was to manufacture 50,000 cable harnesses for the Goggomobil. Soon after, the young company also produced the door panels for the microcar. In the following years, DRÄXLMAIER grew continuously. In the 1960s, the customer BMW marked the entry into the premium automotive segment. In 1974, DRÄXLMAIER began its international expansion with a location in Sousse, Tunisia. Today, the premium supplier manufactures worldwide in close proximity to its customers. At the same time, the Vilsbiburg family company is also continuously expanding its product portfolio. The most recent milestone is the business area of battery systems for electromobility, which was developed in 2009.
